INVESTIGATION INTO ILLEGAL EXPORTATION OF FISH (SWORDFISH) FROM THE GAMBIA TO THE EUROPEAN UNION.

INTRODUCTION: The office of the Inspector General of Police received a correspondence referenced FWR/C/87/01 PART II (100) dated 6th October 2025, emanating from the Ministry of Fisheries, requesting an investigation and possible prosecution of certain companies allegedly involved in the illegal exportation of fish from the Gambia to the European Union (EU).

BRIEF FACTS: The synopsis of the matter reveals that, sometime in 2020, the EU intercepted a consignment of Swordfish from South America trying to enter Europe. The said Swordfish are restricted for consumption in the EU, and as such, the intercepted shipments were returned to the owner.

of request for information was sent to the companies concerned and directed them to provide the bills of lading relating to the importation of fish into the Gambia and justifying the origin of the fish exported to the EU through those container numbers by the 3rd October, 2025.

However, apart from A-plus Fishing Enterprise Banjul, none of those stakeholders responded to the request made by the Ministry of Fisheries.

INVESTIGATION: On 29th October 2025, a team of investigators visited the Ministry of Fisheries to have a genesis of the matter. Upon arrival, the team was received and had an interface with the officials, including the Permanent Secretary, DPS Admin, DPS Technical and the Director, respectively. Soon after the meeting, a focal person was identified, and contacts were provided for International Pelican Seafood and A-Plus Fishing Enterprise.

The Permanent Secretary, Buba Sanyang, briefed the investigators that the problem started in the year 2020-2021 when a clandestine syndicate in the exportation of fish products (from the Gambia to Europe (EU) was detected.

Also, the team invited Dominic Mendy (Marketing and operations manager of A-Plus fishing enterprise), Edrissa Sanyang (General manager of Pelican Seafood) and one Basirou Ndow for the audience.

During the course of the investigation, Dominic Mendy confirmed to the police that between 2021-2022, Adama Sanneh (Principal Fisheries Assistant) and one Basirou Ndow came to the company and requested to see the Managing Director of the Company (Mr. Johnson), whom in their discussion informed him that Adama and Basirou had a consignment of fish that they wanted to export to EU (Spain and Portugal specifically).

However, the said owner of the consignment of Swordfish reshipped the containers to the Gambia. The products were repackaged and re-exported to the EU, purportedly being a catch from the Gambia.

Upon arrival in Europe (Spain), it was detected that the same product that was earlier detected was reshipped back to the EU.

Based on the mines, the European Union flagged the Government of the Gambia through its Ministry of Fisheries, on the grounds that the said species are not found in the Atlantic Ocean, nor in Gambian waters.

Thus, a question was raised as to how the said consignment could be exported from The Gambia. This prompted the EU to mount pressure on the Gambia to provide certain credentials, like the Catch certificate (A document that could link the fish to the vessel or canoe for traceability purposes).

Meanwhile, preliminary findings of the Ministry of Fisheries suggest that the said catch certificate was fake as the activity is linked to a particular vessel that was one time investigated by the European Union. As a result, Adama Sanneh, Principal Fisheries Officer, responsible for issuing catch certificates, was terminated from his service.

Regarding the repackaging and re-exporting, International Pelican Seafood and A-Plus Fishing Enterprise were involved, leading to the Ministry requesting information, which they failed to provide.

Further, the action of the two companies crippled the Ministry's ability to give a timely response to the EU, resulting in frustration and a threat to sanction the Gambia for not providing adequate information about the situation.

Furthermore, the Ministry decided to sanction International Pelican Seafood Co., Ltd. and A-Plus Fishing Enterprise. According to the Permanent Secretary, a letter

According to Dominic, it was Basirou and one Mr Barry who brought the consignment into their cold store for storage. Later, the said consignment was processed, re-packaged and re-exported. Whereas A-Plus Fishing Enterprise exported a consignment to Leixoes (Portugal) as a shipper, the container is said to have been loaded with 414 bags of 2 x 40' CNTR(S) S.T.C FROZEN FISH.

On the other hand, Edrissa Sanyang (General Manager of International Pelican Seafood company) attested to the fact that Mr Momodou Barry and Mr Huan, both of Jagusa Enterprise, came to Pelican, negotiating for the reprocessing and exportation of the said consignment. He noted that the said consignment was imported into the Gambia by Jugusa enterprise through Soter Global DMCC based in Dubai, UAE, as the shipper. The consignment is said to be a container loaded with 319 bags of FROZEN SWORDFISH HGT, Net Weight: 22771.00 KGS.

Notably, the conclusion part of the summary report of the Ministry of Fisheries about the fish exported to the European Union revealed a systemic governance weakness within The Gambia's fisheries monitoring and certification systems that enabled fraudulent/controlled fish exports to the EU in 2020. However, the food safety and quality authority (FSQA) were engaged, Bakanding Fofana (Director of control and inspectorate unit) stated clearly that FSQA was not aware and has never inspect the said consignments. He further stated that this issued came to their notice when EU raised a flaged illegal, unreported, and unregulated (IUU) fishing against the Gambia.

SEE STATEMENTS IN VERBATIM

A. DOMINIC MENDY: A-plus fishing enterprise was established in the Gambia in 2016 was owned by a Taiwanese national named Mr Johnson. I was among the pioneers of the company, and my appointment was as marketing manager at the time. Along the way, I was also overseeing the operational activities of the company. A-fishing company is a Chinese company involved in the processing and export of seafood to Asia only.

Between 2022 and 2021, one Adama Sanneh (a fisheries officer or staff) and one Basirou Ndow came to the company and requested to see the managing director of the company, who was busy and appointed them for another date. When they returned on their second visit, they had a meeting with the manager, after which the manager called me and informed me that Adama and Basirou have a consignment of fish that they want to export to EU (Spain and Portugal specifically).

A few days later, Basirou Ndow and one Mr. Barry (a Gambian based in Spain) came to the company with a truck loaded with fish. The said fish (consignment) was received as instructed by the manager and kept in the cold store.

During this time, Basirou and Mr. Barry come to the company frequently to discuss on the price and how the exportation should be done. The arrangement was purely between them and the manager. Upon agreeing, the manager again instructed us to start processing the consignment for shipment. I then called Lamin Tunkara (Agent) to avail us with refer container (2) 40 feet. Upon receiving the containers, we only took out the consignment from the cold store and put it inside the two (2) 40-foot containers exactly the way we received them. During the parking and arrangement of the fish inside the containers, there was a Spanish man said to be the counterpart of Basirou and Adama. .

This Spanish man is said to be the owner of the consignment. He was putting stickers with labels on the bags containing the fish while we were loading the containers. I have no idea where he got the stickers, and I cannot remember what was written on it. These containers were exported to Portugal through Banjul port, and A-plus fishing did the documentation (catch certificates and health certificates). The catch certificate was prepared by the fisheries department through Adama Sanneh (fisheries officer and the very one who came with Basirou to meet my manager regarding the consignment).

In July 2022, Mr Johnson (the manager of the company) decided to sell the company to another Chinese man, who appointed Mr Lin to oversee the company. Sometimes later, we were invited at the Ministry of Fisheries regarding the exportation of the said consignment. We were questioned and we responded positively, further informing them that we received the consignment through Pelican Fishing Company. We provided all the necessary documents, including the original catch certificate and a copy of the bill of loading.

Regularly, fisheries will request of documents, and we always provide them with the information. Two years ago, the Ministry of Fisheries wrote to us informing us that we are suspended and therefore we should cease operations for a period of three months.

Unfortunately, we are still under suspension as the fisheries department says they are still conducting enquiries regarding the origin of the fish.

The original catch certificate, with copies as well, was collected from us by Adama Sanneh in the name of the fisheries department.

EDIRISSA SANYANG: I joined Pelican Seafood Company sometime around 1976. In 2022, I was appointed as the general manager of the company, which does processing and exportation of fish all over the world. Sometime in 2021, one Mr. Huan and Mr. Barry came to our company and proposed that we have a contract with them for the processing and exportation of fish, which includes locally caught fish.

Their company is called Jagusa Enterprise, which has an office in the Gambia at the time. We started the business as agreed and were processing and exporting fish for them. Along the way, Mr. Carlos, who was based in Dubai (UAE) and working for Jagusa at the time, sent us a correspondence informing us that a consignment of swordfish was coming for reprocessing and exportation (which includes packaging).

Sometime later, we received the consignment of fish that was in two containers. These containers landed in Banjul Ports and were cleared. The containers were cleared, and stock was moved into the cold store, where it stayed for about two months before it was reprocessed for exportation.

During the time of processing, Carlos, who was in Dubai at the time, sent us stickers and labels through email. We printed the stickers and labels that were attached in the fish bags during packaging. He also sent us the packing list showing the items in the container.

The catch certificate template was filled out, and it was signed by Adama Sanneh of the fisheries department. The health certificate was also prepared and issued by the food safety and quality authority. The said consignment was exported to Spain through the port of Banjul. Two years ago, the fisheries department started contacting us regarding the consignment. They requested documentation, which we provided, including the catch certificate, Bill of Loading, etc., prior to being contacted by the fisheries department. I personally asked the workers to stop and never process swordfish because I learned from research that the species is restricted.

The catch certificate and other related documents were handed over to the fisheries through Adama Sanneh and Mr. Jawla. At this moment, our company is suspended, and all the staff are gone, and the place is locked.

B. BASIROU NDOW: I am a friend of one Modou Barry, who is a Spanish national based in the Gambia. He is the local contact for Jagusa Trading Company. The said company was known for its importation of food items (supermarket stocks and fish/seafood). I know Mr Huan Gutierez, who was the owner of the company (Jagusa).

Sometime ago, I remember knowing him through his local contact, Mr Barry, and I helped him with registration, payment of taxes and related activities. At one time, I remember reaching out to the A-Plus company when Jagusa company had a consignment of fish that they needed to keep in a cold store. Because I knew someone at A-plus, I decided to help.

I understand the consignment was received and kept in the cold store of A-plus company, but I have no idea what to it from there. I equally have no idea where the consignment was from.

Mr. Barry is the person who can shed light on that information. Relatively, I availed the permanent secretary (Gibba) with the number of Mr Barry when I was invited for an audience. NB- I was there when the consignment was discharged at the A-Plus company.

BAKANDING FOFANA: I Bakanding Fofana of food safety and quality authority The Gambia hereby declaring that the catch certificate of the protected issue for illegal export has not been probely by the authority. The FSQA doesn't have any knowledge about the catch certificate and example of product at any fish and fisheres products export to EU. The authority was got at maritime through the suspension of two fish processing esterblished A-pluse and International pelican Seafood.

C. ADAMA SANNEH (PRINCIPAL FISHERIES OFFICER): I am

the above-mentioned details burn and reside in Jarra Jappineh and reside in Tallinding. I was employed at the Ministry of Fisheries department in the year 2001, promoted through ranks in different offices and in 2019, I was posted to the inspectorate unit as a principal fisheries assistant. My role and responsibility were to support the principal Fisheries officer in coordinating training and inspection. However, in the year 2022, the principal fisheries office retired. I was overseeing the office without being officially appointed.

I coordinate training and approved documents, including catch certificates. The normal procedure and standard way of preparing a catch certificate is that any company that is to import or export fish, the food safety and quality authority will inspect and later prepare a health certificate for the company responsible for the importation or exportation.

Based on that, the company will draft their catch certificate and send it to the inspectorate unit at the Fisheries department for approval. The fish that are allowed for importation are Tilapia, Bonga, Sardinella and Giant African threadfin, etc., as well as for exportation. The fish that are not allowed for importation and exportation are sacks and rays. I don't know if swordfish are also not allowed for exportation.

In the year 2022, while I was overseeing the office of the inspectorate unit, A plus fishing enterprise drafted a catch certificate and sent it to my office by Dominic for approval. At Uthis time, I did not go to the ground for inspection nor see the fish specimen for importation. I cannot remember the attached health certificate for the approval; I therefore approved.

The catch certificate later on, there was a problem which was raised by the EU for the Ministry to investigate the companies that exported swordfish to the EU market. The technical director was tasked to do his findings, and at the end, they realised that the catch certificate was approved by me. The authorities at the Ministry of Fisheries decided to sack me, and they served me a dismissal letter. Since then, I have been at home, not doing anything.

Today, being the 15th January 2026, I am invited to the serious crime unit in connection with a catch certificate I approved during my time at the inspectorate unit as head. I made my statement to the best of my ability.

In respect to the statement that I made previously with regards to the catch certificates that I approved for a pelican seafood company. I hereby take full responsibility that did not follow the due procedure in approving the certificates. I have never seen the health certificate prepared and sign by food safety and quality assurance. I made this statement to the best of my ability.

FINDINGS: After a thorough review of the statements in the file, the following findings were established;

1. Investigation revealed that between 2020 and 2022, two (2) companies (International Pelican Seafood Co. Ltd, and A-Plus Fishing Enterprise) were allegedly involved in the Processing, repackaging and re-exportation of fish products to the EU.

2. That a notice raised by the E.U. dated 17th January 2022 addressed to Directorate General for Maritime Administration and Fisheries (DG MARE), raising a concern for clarification of catch certificates reference GAM/FPE/06/97/12-03/2020, GAM/FPE/06/97/02-07/2020B and RN9209/16/04/11/20 respectively.

3. Investigation revealed that the vessels allegedly involved were Xin Xi Wang 6, Xin Xi Wang 7, De Hong 1, and Bamala Diop. These vessels were licensed exclusively for "Fish and Cephalopods." They held no authorisation for Swordfish.

4. It is evident that Mr Adama Sanneh was employed at the Ministry of Fisheries department in the year 2001, rose through ranks in different offices and in 2019, he was posted to the inspectorate unit as Principal Fisheries Assistant.

5. That it is revealed from the statement of Adama Sanneh that his role and responsibility were to support the Principal Fisheries Officer in coordinating training and inspection.

6. That in the year 2022, he was overseeing the office of the Principal Fisheries Officer without being officially appointed.

7. Investigation revealed that, despite a lack of appropriate licenses, Adama Sanneh (Principal Fisheries Assistant) validated catch certificates for the swordfish, and the vessel Bamala Diop was falsely represented as Gambian; it was subsequently identified as a Senegalese artisanal canoe (Registration IH1565).

8. Investigation revealed from the correspondent received from the Ministry of Fisheries that the official procedure for approving a catch certificate involves examination of documentation conducted by the inspectorate unit.

9. That it is mandatory for the unit head to audit and provide accurate data on fish species, total quantity, and the specific container numbers intended for shipment.

10. That to ensure all cargoes match with the documentation that entails the content of each container (see details in file).

11. Investigation established that the inspectorate unit of the Ministry of Fisheries critically looks into the source of the fish before certification is authorised.

12. It is also established that the vessel numbers are critical in the identification of the source fish.

13. That the inspectorate unit of the Ministry of Fisheries must verify that vessels are either officially licensed and registered in the Gambia or are authorised to fish within the territorial waters of the country to combat illegal, unreported, and unregulated (IUU) fishing.

14. Investigation established that the head of the inspectorate unit of the Ministry of Fisheries has satisfied that all regulatory requirements have been met, and the origins of the fish are legitimate, and the final approval is granted.

15. That the certificate is formally endorsed, stamped, and signed by the head of the inspectorate unit of the Ministry of Fisheries.

16. That the signature is executed under the authority of the flag state, providing the necessary legal clearance for the fish products to be exported to the international market.

17. Investigation revealed that, from the official document received from the Ministry of Fisheries, which cites the protected fish species list, Swordfish (all species) are prohibited from commercial trade. (See attached document in file).

18. Investigation revealed that Mr Huan Gutierez, the CEO of Jagusa Enterprise and a Spanish National, imported the said Swordfish into the Gambia with the help of his Gambian partners, Basirou Ndow and Mr Barry. (See statement of Dominic Mendy)

19. That Adama Sanneh (Principal Fisheries Assistant) was with Basirou Ndow at A-Plus Fishing Enterprise, to meet Mr Johnson (CEO) regarding the consignment of fish. (See statement of Dominic Mendy)

20. Investigation further revealed that Mr Huan Gutierez, Basirou Ndow, and Mr Barry were allegedly involved in the repackage, rebrand, and labelling of the fish during the period of loading the containers. (Statement of Dominic Mendy)

21. Investigation revealed that A-Plus Fishing Enterprise was established in the year 2016 by one Mr Johnson from Taiwan and Dominic Mendy as the Marketing and Operations Manager. This company was registered for processing, packaging, importation, and exportation of fish in and out of the Gambia.

22. Investigation revealed that the consignment was received from Mr. Huan Gutirez, Baseriou Ndow, and Mr. Barry and the fish were stored in the cold store of A-Plus Enterprise until the General Manager gave instructions for the processing and exportation of the said Swordfish. (See statement of Dominic Mendy)

23. Investigation revealed that sometimes in 2020, A-Plus Fishing Enterprise repackaged and exported two 40ft containers with numbers of (HJMU6102790 414 bags & OTPU6030317 461 bags) of Swordfish to the EU (Portugal) on the instructions of the General Manager.

24. Investigation revealed that International Pelican Seafood was established sometime in the 1970s and registered in the Gambia for processing and exportation of fish all over the world.

25. It is evident that sometime in 2021, Mr Huan Gutierez, CEO and Mr Barry, a staff member of Jagusa Enterprise, went to International Pelican Seafood Company and proposed to have a contract with them for the processing and exportation of fish, which includes locally cat fish.

26. That they started business as agreed, and International Pelican Seafood Co. Ltd were processing and exporting fish of the said species. Mr Carlos, who was based in Dubai (UAE) and working for Jagusa Enterprise at the time, sent International Pelican Seafood Co. Ltd a correspondence informing them that a consignment of Swordfish was coming for reprocessing and exportation, which includes packaging. (See attachment in file).

27. International Pelican Seafood Co. Ltd received the consignment of fish that was in one 40ft container with a number (MNBU3794802 319 bags) FROZEN SWORDFISH. This container landed in Banjul Ports and cleared; the stocks were moved into the cold store of International Pelican Seafood for storage, where they stayed for about two months before they were reprocessed and exported.

28. That it was revealed on the statement of Edrissa Sanyang of International Pelican Seafood he prepared a catch certificate and sent it to the Ministry of Fisheries Department for approval, and subsequently approved by Adama Sanneh, the head of the inspectorate unit at the time.

29. Investigation reveals that both A-Plus Fishing Enterprise and International Pelican Seafood Co. Ltd claimed that Adama Sanneh had retrieved the original catch certificates from their companies during the initial investigation by the Ministry of Fisheries, Water Resources and National Assembly Matters.

30. That the investigation could not esterblish where those original catch certificates were keep after confronting Mr Adama Sanneh the Principal Fisheries Assistant.

31. Investigation reveals that after the preliminary investigation done by the Ministry of Fisheries in relation to the matter, Mr. Adama Sanneh was dismissed from his Job on the 6th October 2023 ref. 1905516/(24), while Pelican Seafood Company Ltd and A-Plus Enterprise were put under suspension. (See copy of the dismissal letter and suspensions in the file).

OPINION: After a thorough scrutiny of the statements obtained from A-Plus Fishing Enterprise and International Pelican Seafood Company Ltd staff, together with the Bills of Loading and export documentation. It is evident that a consignment of Frozen Swordfish (HGT) was not caught in Gambian waters.

The facts revealed that the products were imported into The Gambia through SOTER GLOBAL DMCC, Dubai, and are cleared at the Port of Banjul.

Evidence further shows that the consignment was initially stored in the cold store of A-Plus Fishing Enterprise, having been facilitated by Basirou Ndow, acting as a local contact for Jagusa Enterprise and its foreign partners Modou Barry, Huan Gutierez and Mr Carlos respectively.

Subsequently, the swordfish was reprocessed and packaged by both A-Plus Fishing Enterprise and International Pelican Seafood Company Ltd, and exported two (2) 40-foot containers of the said fish to the European Union, specifically Spain and Portugal, on the instructions of its General Managers (Edrissa Sanyang).

It should be noted that before fish are imported or exported into or out of the country, they must be examined by the Food, Safety, and Quality Authorities in order to certify them before leaving the country.

Having certified all the needful by respective stakeholders, the Ministry of Fisheries will issue a catch certificate.

It is equivocal to note that a fraudulent Catch Certificate was prepared and issued, indicating that the swordfish was caught in Gambian waters, thereby giving the consignment a false and misleading origin to satisfy EU traceability requirements.

Evidence on record shows that the said Catch Certificate was prepared, approved, and signed by Mr. Adama Sanneh, Principal Fisheries Assistant at the Ministry of Fisheries, Water Resources and National Assembly Matters.

When concerns were raised by the European Union, and a preliminary investigation commenced, Pelican Seafood Company Ltd handed over the original catch certificate and related documents to Mr Adama Sanneh.

Considering the illegal involvement of Pelican Seafood Company Ltd and A-Plus Fishing Enterprise, the Ministry deem it fit to suspend them from operating.

Analysis

The investigation clearly establishes that swordfish was neither caught in Gambian waters nor legally eligible to be exported as Gambian catch. Despite this, a catch certificate was issued certifying the fish as Gambian-origin produce.

By his own admission, Mr Adama Sanneh approved the catch certificate without physical inspection, without verifying the species, and without ensuring the existence of a valid health certificate, which can give him the go-ahead for the approval. This omission is not merely an administrative lapse or negligence but a deliberate action from established fisheries certification procedures, especially considering his position and experience. The logical implication is that the certificate was false, misleading, and intended to deceive authorities.

Mr Adama Sanneh was, at all material times, a Principal Fisheries Assistant and acting head of the Inspectorate Unit, a position that entrusted him with statutory authority over certification and compliance. By preparing and approving a catch certificate for fish not caught in Gambian waters, and by facilitating its use for export to the EU, he abused the authority of his office in a manner prejudicial to the rights and obligations of the State. This conduct squarely falls under Abuse of Office contrary to section 83(1)(2) of the Criminal Offences Act, 2025.

Which states...

> "(1) A person who, being employed in the public service, does or directs to be done, in abuse of the authority of his or her office, any arbitrary act prejudicial to the rights of another, commits a misdemeanour.
> (2) If the act is done or directed to be done for purposes of gain, he or she commits a felony, and is liable on conviction to a fine of three hundred thousand dalasi or imprisonment for seven years or both (Criminal Offence Act, 2025)."

Further, a catch certificate is an official document relied upon by foreign governments and international markets for the traceability and legality of fish exports. However, Adama Sanneh acted willingly to approve the certificate without following diligent due process and approval of the Food Safety and Quality Authority, making the product genuine for export.

As authenticity is presumed precisely because of his position. His certifying false information relating to the origin of the fish, species eligibility, and compliance with fisheries regulations is tantamount to the offence of forgery of a Judicial or official document contrary to Section 302 of the Criminal Offences Act, 2025.

Which state...

"302. Forgery of judicial or official document person who forges any judicial or official document is liable on conviction to imprisonment for seven years (Ibid)."

RECOMMENDATION: In view of the findings of the investigation and the evidence gathered, it is recommended that;

- ✓ The suspect is to be charged with the offences committed: Abuse of Office, forgery of a judicial or official document, and conspiracy to defraud contrary to section 83(1) (2), 302 & 269, of the Criminal Offences Act 2005.

Notwithstanding, the file is forwarded for onward transmission.
